

COMMONS VOTES CHURCHILL SUPPORT

ITALY CLAIMS AXIS CAPTURE OF EL ALEMEIN

British Report Drive Checked;
Situation at Sevastopol
Still Cloudy.

By The Associated Press
Indian headquarters asserted today that Axis troops had stormed and captured El Alemein, only 65 miles west of British's great Alexandria base, as the British fought along a 35-mile "bottle-neck" front in a desperate attempt to save the Suez canal and perhaps the entire middle East from German conquest.

Simultaneously, British imperial headquarters declared that Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's armies, meeting the Axis in a full-scale battle after a 350-mile retreat in three weeks, beat off heavy attacks at El Alemein yesterday.

Describing preliminary phases of the great battle as "not unfavorable for us," the British communiqué said:

"One attack by enemy tanks effected a temporary breakthrough in a defended locality, but later the enemy tanks were driven out and engaged by our columns."

These dispatches from the front said the British "supported" by American 26-ton "General Grant" tanks, were engaging the Italian 10-ton "Mashona" tanks, and the British "Erwin Rommel" tanks, which had been driven out of the Mediterranean coast inland to the Qattara depression.

Sweeping over the narrow fighting zone, allied warplanes including American "Kittyhawk" fighters blasted enemy tanks and troops.

Planes Step Up Attack

Allied bombers, meanwhile, were reported stepped up their attacks on Axis land forces, blasting away at lines of communication, supply depots and concentrations of mechanized units.

The air operations were reported despite heavy sandstorms, headquarters declared. Especially heavy attacks were reported concentrated on the axis airdrome near Sid Barrani.

While the main fighting on the land front apparently was centered directly west of El Alemein, British mobile columns further south yesterday "lashed out" west of the main defense line to engage enemy forces plus north of the Qattara depression, the communiqué declared.

It seemed certain, however, that on the outcome of the battle depended not only the fate of Alexandria, with its great naval base, but the whole British position in the eastern Mediterranean.

The eighth army was bolstered for the struggle by support troops and reserves stretching back across the desert to Alexandria. At the point where the British have chosen for their stand, the Nile valley from a defensive point of view, for the saltwaters of the Qattara depression, soaking up from the south, reduce to its narrowest the coastal area suitable for mechanized operations.

Saves Large Reserves

Auchinleck apparently had managed to save a large proportion of his remaining armored strength in the long retreat across the desert.

A German broadcast, echoing the Italian claim, declared that Rommel's armies were pursuing the British in retreat, toward the Nile after axis troops had broken through at El Alemein.

Dispatches indicated that Rommel struck under cover of a swirling sandstorm, assaulting the main British forces trapped along the coastal plain in a frontal assault aimed at Alexandria.

An Italian communiqué said the British positions were "terrifically defended" and were overrun only after sharp fighting.

"Our air force, which repeatedly intervened in the field, dominated the battle in the sky," the Fascist war bulletin asserted.

While the fall of El Alemein would not be disastrous in itself, the claims indicated that the British had already pushed five miles or more into the British system of defense in depth.

The British front line previously had been described as 70 miles to EGYPT, Page 4)

Lack of Adequate Phone Equipment Is Revealed in Citywide Defense Muster

Serious "Bottleneck" Develops in Marion's First Full-Scale
Mobilization; Will Be Remedied.

A serious bottleneck in Marion's civilian defense control center was disclosed in last night's citywide mobilization, the first full-scale performance of the civilian defense organization to date.

The bottleneck resulted almost entirely from lack of telephone equipment in the center, and was revealed when the control center officials attempted to assign various units to their respective areas of responsibility.

With only four telephone lines available, the control center was unable to handle the situation. The lack of equipment was a serious problem, and it was pointed out that the control center should have a minimum of 10 telephone lines.

Need At Least 10 Phones
The civilian defense council will make an immediate effort to get at least 10 more telephones, and with these, the dispatching of emergency squads to any point they might be needed, he said.

Except for this bottleneck and a few other weaknesses, the mobilization was entirely satisfactory.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE SPY RING IS SMASHED

Army Uncovers Group Aiding
Axis Submarines; 20
Held for Trial.

By The Associated Press
UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS, PANAMA CANAL ZONE, July 2.—Lieut. Gen. Frank Andrews, defense commander of the Caribbean area, announced today the arrest of 20 persons who the army charges formed a spy ring engaged in fueling axis submarines and disclosing information on United States shipping to the enemy.

Arrests completed June 25 included arrests extending from British Honduras to Panama.

Involved are prominent business men, laborers, night club hostesses, coast guard shipping employees, and trusted Panama Canal zone workers.

20 Held for Trial
All 20 persons now are being held for trial.

The governor of British Honduras is awaiting the authority of the British government before determining trial procedure of those arrested in his territory.

General Andrews issued this statement:

"We must understand that the enemy probably expects us to smash this ring sooner or later and most likely has preconceived plans to place another echelon into operation."

Our intelligence agencies will have no stone unturned in ferreting out the identity of any such activity. We will destroy the enemy agencies before their activities can be used to their further advantage."

WINS GREAT VICTORY IN BITTER DEBATE ON CONDUCT OF WAR

475 to 25 Ballot Ends Discussion of British Reverses in Egypt.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 2.—Prime Minister Churchill won an overwhelming vote of confidence from the house of commons today after he had gravely assessed the allied position in the Mediterranean and Middle East war zones as a near-disaster with a hope of victory pinned on "very considerable" reinforcements now in progress.

The vote was 475 to 25.

The parliamentary victory came at the end of a speech one hour and 28 minutes long in which Churchill staunchly defended his direction of the war as the best possible under the circumstances.

Churchill sketched a dark picture of the battle of Egypt. He said it had developed "a recession of our hopes and prospects in the Middle East and Mediterranean unequalled since the fall of France."

To this he added, without elaboration, a statement that "at any moment we may receive news of grave importance."

The 475 to 25 vote left 115 of the house's 615 members unaccounted for.

Of the 115 some members undoubtedly expressed partial approval of the Churchill government by abstaining from the vote but many could not attend the session because of wartime duties and other causes.

Churchill's somber portrayal of the war in Africa was greeted only by his statement that "very considerable reinforcements have been or are approaching" the battlefield.

This major strengthening of the battered Eighth army, which the Axis path to the Nile delta, Alexandria and Suez, was the basis of Churchill's statement that "I do not consider the struggle in any way decided."

This appraisal of the Allied position in Africa and the Middle East, evoked by two days of debate in the house of commons on Churchill's conduct of the war, was given in a speech which also touched upon the British military's recent consultations with President Roosevelt.

Tells of U. S. Visit

He said the conversations were concerned "only with movement of troops, ships and aircraft and measures to be taken to combat losses at sea and more than replace sinkers tomorrow."

The United States army air force has been in action for some days in the North African struggle, while United States service and supply units have been engaged on behalf of the Allies behind the battle lines.

"Almost everything arranged was secret," Churchill added of his talks with the President, and "there was never a more earnest desire between allies to engage the enemy."

In the closing passages of his historic reply, just before commons began voting on a motion to censure his government for its direction of the war, Churchill said:

"I have stuck hard to my blood, toil, sweat and tears, to which I have added muddles and mismanagement."

The war, in Churchill's opinion, is likely to be a long one and moreover, he said, there is no reason to suppose that hostilities will cease "when the final result has 'come obvious'."

Praises Russians

He paid tribute to the Russians for their "steady resistance" to the Germans and predicted they would "surprise Hitler again."

Churchill said the balance of naval power in the Pacific has been "altered in our favor" by the "brilliant victories" of the United States navy and air force over the Japanese in the Coral sea and at Midway.

"I am confident that now a land invasion of Australia would be most hazardous and unprofitable operation for Japan," he declared.

These splendid American achievements have not received the attention they deserve in these islands."

Churchill met his critics with a blunt admission of near-disaster in the Mediterranean and Middle East area which he said had brought "a recession of our hopes and prospects... unequalled since the fall of France."

"At any moment we may receive news of grave importance," he told commons on the heels of Axis reports that the British Eighth army, driven with heavy losses from Libya and its first

CHINA'S AIR FORCE RENEWS OFFENSIVE

Bombers Smash Base Used by Jap Planes.

By The Associated Press

China's fledgling air force, pressing its first offensive in five years of warfare against Japan, was credited today with a big-scale assault on Japanese military targets along the Yangtze river, while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies coped with an increasingly grave situation on the East China seaboard.

Dispatches from Chungking, the war-time capital, said large formations of Chinese bombers pounded the enemy at Hankow and Tientsin, in northern Hunan province. All the raiders returned safely today, with a big-scale assault on Japanese military targets along the Yangtze river, while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies coped with an increasingly grave situation on the East China seaboard.

On the fighting front, a Chinese army spokesman again denied at Tokyo, claim that Japanese invasion columns had seized the entire 450-mile Chekiang-Kiang railway.

The spokesman said a 35-mile gap still separated the two Japanese columns, driving toward each other along the important railway which leads into central China.

In the battle of Australia, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported a series of allied aerial blows which indicated a sharp upsurge in United Nations air strength.

Reaching far out over the neck-laced of Japanese "invasion base" islands north of Australia, allied bombers attacked six Japanese strongholds and inflicted heavy damage.

A United Nations communiqué said the raiders struck at Kendari airdrome, in Dutch Celebes; Dili, Portuguese Timor; Lee and Salamaua, New Guinea; and Tulagi and Bougainville, in the Solomon islands.

Survivors of Houston

Reported Prisoners

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Some of the crew of the cruiser Houston, which disappeared along with the Australian cruiser Perth in the battle of the Java sea, were believed today to have been picked up by the Japanese and interned in the Dutch East Indies.

A navy statement quoted a Japanese broadcast as saying that 1,000 survivors of the two vessels had been rescued by Japanese sailors and were now in Batavia.

There appears to be no reason for the substance of false information on this subject by the Japanese, the navy said.

List of Horses and Drivers in Races Tomorrow

U. S. NAVAL BASE BUILT IN IRELAND

Helps Keep Atlantic Convoy
Ships in Operation.

By The Associated Press

UNITED STATES NAVAL BASE, LONDONDERRY, NORTHERN IRELAND, July 2.—Here in far northern Ireland, at the European end of the Allies' bridge of ships, this great new naval base has sprung into being in a year's time to guard precious cargoes bound across the North Atlantic for Britain and Russia.

Its existence was announced publicly for the first time today although it was commissioned last Feb. 5 and, according to Commander Ross Stewart, commander of the adjoining British base, "already has lifted a great burden of the war problem."

Where hundreds of United States marines and blue-jackets operate machines, choppers, supply bases, drydocks, and other naval base establishments in a plant spreading over hundreds of acres, only a year ago 3,000 Irish and American workers were starting construction.

Details of its intricate mechanism still are a war secret but it could repair or rebuild the biggest United States destroyer.

It is designed to keep in light craft on Atlantic convoy duty for the United States and Canadian navies.

AUTO INDUSTRY TOOLS INTACT

Saved for the Time Being from the War's Scrap Metal Drive.

(By The World) — For at least the auto industry appears to have escaped the war's scrap metal drive. The car manufacturers' scrap metal collection drive is all certain, how- ever, it will continue to keep the tools intact if the industry is going to be able to produce cars in the immediate post-war period. The 1942 model cars are almost wholly intact. If they remain intact, the quick re-installation of the plants and the long- term passenger automobiles will be coming off production lines in a hurry—perhaps in a matter of months.

It may have to be turned over to the war metals production effort, there will be no new passenger automobiles for a year or more. It was said that when 1942 model passenger automobile production ceased last February, the industry had not even a rough sketch of another model on hand. The car designers had some in- dividual ideas of what might be built in a 1943 model—if there were to be one—but the manu- facturers several months earlier had decided otherwise. In the interest of the war effort they agreed to forego tooling for a model to succeed the 1942 design. That was before the United States was brought into the war as an active participant, and before it became necessary to suspend car production for the duration.

Thus if the requirements of the war effort call for the metal in the industry's 1942 model tools and dies the car manufacturers literally would have to start from scratch after the war. They could re-tool with duplicated new equipment for production of the 1942 model passenger cars, but they probably would not do so because of the expense involved in what at best would be only an interim model.

One suggestion that has been heard in trade circles has dealt with a possible "co-operatively produced" car in the immediate post-war months to meet urgent demands until such time as all manufacturers would have new competitive models blueprinted and ready for production.

It is now seems probable, the immediate post-war passenger car is built from the blueprints, and with the tools and dies that were used on the 1942 models. It is a fair assumption that it will be retained in production for at least a year. That not only will give time for designing the model to succeed it, but also will enable the manufacturers to recover in part at least some of the expense that was involved in the initial purchase of the production equipment, its war-time storage and its re-installation in the factories at the end of the conflict.

The cost of the present 1942 model tools and dies has been variously estimated at from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. The critical and strategic metal content salvageable as scrap has only a small fraction of that value.

Proposals for scrapping them were made by some officials of the war production board. They were deferred, however, after conferences with representatives of the car manufacturers and an agreement to scrap a considerable volume of duplicated equipment currently in the industry's possession.

HUNGRY EUROPEANS LOOKING TO ALLIES

United Nations Pool Wheat To Feed Millions.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 2—Millions of hungry people in Axis-occupied countries today had a glimmer of hope for a United Nations relief pool.

It was the decision of the United Nations and four other countries to pool wheat to feed the relief of war-torn countries, to be rushed to them as soon as the international situation permits.

Wheat means as much as shipping to carry breadstuffs instead of bombs, what instead of weapons across the seas.

Establishment of a relief pool of not less than 100,000,000 bushels is one of the features of the wheat agreement made public yesterday with the United States, Great Britain, Canada, Australia and Argentina as signatories.

Other provisions relate to the control of wheat production, stocks and exports and the cooperation of all five countries in the utilization of prices.

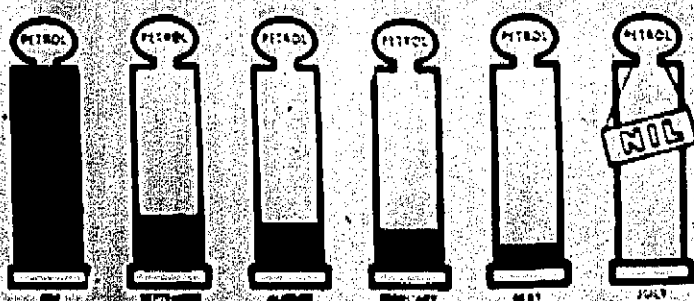

What urgently matters to hungry millions, however, is the promise of wheat to be shipped to them as soon as the situation permits.

The combined wheat surplus of the four exporting countries involved now aggregates nearly 1,500,000,000 bushels. Defeat of the Axis will clear the seas for peaceful commerce and put that wheat into circulation.

The ultimate aim is restoration of the international wheat trade on a sound basis, but to make sure the hungry millions will get bread.

Gas Rationing in Britain

Wide World Features
Under the rationing plan going into effect in July, eastern motorists will receive enough gasoline for approximately 240 miles of pleasure driving a month. At the same time, British motorists will see the elimination of all petrol for pleasure driving.

The above chart, prepared by the British Information Service, shows the progress of rationing in the British Isles. From a pre-war consumption of around 600 miles a month, the allowance dropped to 150 miles, 125, 105, and in May to 52.

Public Views Sought in Columbus Dilemma

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., July 2—City council, seeking a solution to the financial crisis which brought the layoff of nearly one-third of the capital's police and firemen, agreed today to open Monday a series of public hearings on money-raising proposals.

Mayor Floyd F. Green's suggestion that a three per cent service tax be levied to raise approximately $1,500,000 annually will be discussed.

This levy would be assessed on services of every one from the shoe-shine boy to the family physician.

The city's most recent financial troubles and the furloughing of 135 firemen, 125 policemen and approximately 50 other city workers followed the defeat of a 2.5 mill real estate levy to raise $900,000 annually for two years.

Cause of Flare Factory Fire Is Investigated

By The Associated Press
AKRON, O., July 2—Investigators today sought to determine the cause of a fire that burned out powder, stocks and wrecked machinery in the three-story Diamond Match Co. flare factory at nearby Wadsworth.

Twelve of 100 women workers who fled the blaze yesterday were cut and bruised as they jumped through windows and climbed a five-foot barbed wire fence after flames cut off escape through the main gate.

Workers expressed a belief that one flare ignited and set off others.

FIRST MARION 1-B CALL SCHEDULED

Limited Service Men Listed for August.

First call to service of Marion men in 1-B, those available for limited service, will be made in August.

An announcement was made today that Marion's three draft boards this week received notice from the state selective service headquarters to begin calling 1-B classifications for non-combatant duty.

Date of the August induction has not been set.

The three boards today issued a warning to men who have received occupational questionnaires to fill out the papers and return them to the boards.

In recent weeks many of the questionnaires have been returned to the boards marked "undelivered."

Selectees are required to report changes of address to their boards immediately. The boards pointed out that if a man cannot be located, the fact is reported to the district attorney and trouble may ensue for the selectee.

18-20 Registration Here Totals 1,140

Total registration of 18-20 year-old youth Saturday and Tuesday by Marion's draft boards was approximately 1,140, instead of 950 as it was announced last night.

The error was made in The Star's tabulating of a report from Board 18 (Wards 12 and 13). The board's total registration for the two days was 501, including 307 on Tuesday.

All through the registration throughout the state, a short of the anticipated 165,000, the total in Marion's city and county was far above the anticipated 800.

One factor in the wide variance in Marion county, according to reports, was the large number of young men here temporarily to work on construction of war plants. Their registration cards will be forwarded to their home draft boards.

Japan's New Language

The Japanese boast they have reduced their language to 800 symbols for introduction to the Chinese and other Orientals. The Japanese believe they got the idea from basic English, which was introduced into Japan in 1934. The Japanese, being very intelligent, immediately began basic Japanese, "no doubt," with conquest of the Orient in view, the experts say. "But Japanese is the last language to lend itself to basic," the Japanese say. "They borrowed 600 Chinese characters, gave them a Japanese pronunciation, and called it basic Japanese. It came to the United States about three years ago, and the Rockefeller foundation, working with the Harvard Commission on Language Studies, is now studying it. He is in the Burbank studios, reducing basic to 800 words for a series of six short films. The pictures are designed chiefly to teach the English words, and to limit them to 800. The average person should learn basic by seeing them six times. If a person can't learn in 10 lessons, he's a hopeless case," Richards asserts.

If a person wants to learn more English, he can teach himself by studying a basic dictionary of thousands of words, and by reading any of the 30 books published in basic Japanese. Richards recently published his basic English version of "The Republic of Plato," and in another book, "How to Read a Page," offered a course in efficient reading.

Want Secondary Language

He considers the possibilities of basic Japanese. The Rockefeller Foundation grants two schools in South America and proposes to establish more. He wants Spanish, Portuguese, French and Chinese reduced to basic and taught in English-speaking nations. The biggest handicap is that of these languages, only Chinese can be reduced to as few as 1,000 words, Richards said. Spanish and French require a minimum of 2,000. Even then the grammar is not good. China was basic's greatest hope before the war, and therefore, it's a great disappointment. But Rockefeller teachers are carrying on.

"We were making progress in China. But the war messed up all of that. English teaching in China is almost out of the word I like there is nugatory."

30 ARMY MEN DIE IN PLANE CRASHES

Transport and Bomber Fall in
W. Va., California.

By The Associated Press

Wash., July 2.—Army planes today to identify and recover bodies of 30 army men killed in plane crashes. Occupants of an Army transport plane crashed on a southern California hillside.

The transport, a former Army plane, lost a wing and crashed, plunging into the hills from the fuselage. The plane, a C-47, was carrying 30 men, three of whom were killed yesterday.

Three men were killed in the crash yesterday in California. A four-motored Army bomber crashed and exploded on a hillside with a roar heard for miles. Army men at March Field said the crash was on a routine training flight.

West Virginia state troopers, searching wreckage of the airliner at Boone, said the bodies were scattered throughout the wreckage. They could be identified by clothing and insignia. A ring, possibly a ring, was found.

Two men were identified today. One, Lieut. E. A. Harness, 24, of Boone, Ind.; Kermit Masters, 24, of Boone, Mo.; Edward Carr, 24, of Boone, Mo.; Elmer J. Campbell, 24, of Boone, Mo.; Chester Tretowsky, 24, of Boone, Mo.; Archie W. Chambers, 24, of Boone, Mo.; Leon A. Olin, address unknown.

Army equipment and personal effects strewn near the wreckage bore the names of Erwin Suetman, Corporal Jackson, Russell A. Carter, Elmore Edwards, and a scotchman found near the wreckage bore this message: "All that's a birthday can hold of for my dear boy." It was signed "Pop."

The plane was believed enroute from a northern airfield to a base in the south.

SCHOOL BOARD

school year, neither the board nor Superintendent E. H. Holt could ask deferments from teachers called to military service.

"Personally, I don't think the teachers want to be deferred from their obligations when the country calls them to serve," the superintendent said in asking that the school board clarify the question of requesting deferments.

During the school year, deferments were requested in several cases involving positions for which it would have been virtually impossible to find substitutes, but the board generally agreed yesterday that with the coming of the summer months, no further deferments should be sought.

Yesterday's action in making salary adjustments was in line with a procedure started last July when adjustments of approximately $7,000 were given.

Leaves Granted

Leaves of absence were granted three men, Stewart Shuman, and Clark M. Fouts, who are in military service, and George Neiml, mechanical drawing and physical education instructor at Harding High school, who will enter navy service Monday.

Miss Jane Scott, who has a bachelor of science in education degree from Miami university, with a major in music, was employed to succeed Miss Lucille Russell as elementary music supervisor. Miss Scott has been teaching in the Wilmington school. Miss Florence Gillespie was reemployed as physiotherapist at the Crippled Children's school. Following an established plan, she will spend three days a week at the school here and two days at the Mansfield school for crippled children.

Harold Peak was employed as custodian at Harding High school, for a period from June 15, 1942 to Aug. 31, 1942.

Secretaries Reemployed

The following secretaries were reemployed:

Miss Vera G. Stull and Miss Mary K. Milley, the superintendent's office; Miss Elizabeth Pace at Harding High school; Miss Anna G. Parks at Central Junior High school; Miss Dorothy Eberhart at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, and Miss Elizabeth Haberman at the Vernon Heights Junior High school.

Six Resignations

Resignations of six teachers were accepted. Miss Jean Knapp, the former Miss Alice L. Grable, the former Miss Harriett Smith; Miss June Clayton, the former Miss Margaret Young and Miss Nadine Hubert. Miss Grable, Miss Smith and Miss Young have married. Miss Knapp and Miss Clayton will be married soon. Miss Hubert, girls' physical education supervisor at Harding and the three junior high schools, has accepted a position in the Kent High school.

War Insurance Cost

Clerk J. D. Torrance informed the board that the cost of war protection insurance, on an 80 per cent co-insurance clause would be $812 a year. In the event of total loss by fire, the schools would be reimbursed up to 80 per cent of the value of the property and in case of loss under 80 per cent, the payment would be in full. He said it was a plan which the board should consider seriously.

Dr. R. F. Morgan asked whether an answer had been received from acting City Solicitor R. M. Wilhelm who was requested by the board to obtain an opinion from the attorney general regarding the authority of the board to grant a "demand" of Marion Federation of Teachers, Local No. 715 that it be recognized as the bargaining agent for all classroom teachers in the board's elementary schools. The demand was made Friday. A letter which the board considered at a special session last Friday.

Contacted after the meeting, Mr. Wilhelm said he had made the request through Prosecuting Attorney James L. Reed.

War-time demand for salaries has increased the cost of living to an important point, which has been the case for 15 years.

Churchill Wins Commons Vote of Confidence

Anchored with concurrence of the war cabinet and its professional advisers and as a result "I am very ready on behalf of my government to take my full share of responsibility."

Basic of Criticism

Criticism of Churchill's direction of the war has been associated in the debate with the fact that Churchill is both prime minister and minister of defense. One group of critics in commons has been demanding that he yield the defense post to another who could devote more time to it.

While Churchill assumed responsibility for the Tobruk disaster he nevertheless lashed out at his detractors with a charge that "everything had been done to weaken confidence in the government."

He said his critics had tried to prove that Britain's ministers were "incompetent" and "to weaken their confidence in themselves and make the army distrust the back of its neck from civil power."

Parliamentary debate has been used to make workers lose confidence in the weapons they were studying "so hard to make," Churchill said, "and to undermine the prime minister 'in his own heart and in the hearts of the people of the nation.'"

"He said it was difficult to 'concentrate his thoughts on debate' and 'withdraw them from our most critical battle now raging in Egypt.'"

Cites Losses

Churchill lost commons that "we have lost upward of 50,000 men during the last two weeks." He said the British had "lost a large quantity of stores," "recognition of our losses and prospects in the Middle East and the Mediterranean are unequalled since the fall of France."

"Military misfortunes of the last fortnight in Cireneia and Egypt have completely transformed the situation not only in the theater but throughout the Mediterranean," he said.

"The situation at Tobruk was 'utterly unexpected' by the cabinet," he said. "The cabinet, the chiefs of staff and Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, commander of British forces in the Middle East, he disclosed."

"On the night before Tobruk's capture," Gen. Auchinleck telegraphed the cabinet that the city was "garrisoned with 'defenses in good order' and 'nearly 40 days supply of food for our troops'."

Churchill said "The decision to hold Tobruk was made by Gen. Auchinleck, the chief of staff and his professional advisers 'thoroughly agreed with him' and 'I am ready on behalf of the government to take my full share of the responsibility.'"

Tobruk was garrisoned by about 25,000 men, the prime minister said, "lashing at his critics in a biting phrase: 'To blame the army is mean and to blame your predecessors is contemptible.'"

British resources were "much larger" than those of the axis, "and so were our approaching reinforcements," he continued, "as he was going into a discussion of the opening phase of the Libyan campaign."

Replying to charges he tried to direct the blame from No. 10 Downing street in London, Churchill said the policy had been "not to worry the generals but to leave them alone to do their job."

Churchill said he found it "difficult to believe Tobruk had fallen" when on June 21 he sent the president, Roosevelt, to Washington and heard the report.

"The decision was taken to the best of my knowledge by the commander of the fortress," he said.

He declared his feelings had been "aggravated in the following days by 'distorted accounts of the fall of Tobruk' and 'the headlines such as 'Commons Face Accusations' and 'Churchill Returns to Supreme Political Crisis.'"

"Such an atmosphere," he said, "is naturally injurious to a British representative negotiating great matters of state upon which the larger issues of war depend."

Nevertheless, he said he believed "the bonds of comradeship between all men at the top were actually strengthened by the press reports."

The prime minister said he "explained to my hosts" that "these were the conditions of the war in the United States, the house of commons, just as a 'small handful of correspondents who pour out damaging utterances of our affairs to the United States and Australia in no way represent the honorable profession of journalism.'"

His conversations with Roosevelt were "concerned only with the movement of troops, ships and aircraft," he said, "and measures to be taken to combat losses at sea and more than to replace sunk tonnage."

"Almost everything arranged was secret," Churchill said, declaring "there was never a more earnest desire between the allies to engage the enemy."

These United States, he said, is building this year "four times as much gross tonnage as the British are building" and will build eight to ten times more in 1942.

Returning to the Libyan campaign, he said Malta is "now stronger in aircraft than ever before."

men and the enemy 80,000 of which 30,000 were Germans, Churchill disclosed.

"We had superiority in the number of tanks of perhaps seven to five and superiority in artillery of nearly eight to five," he said.

British equipment included the latest model of 55-pound howitzers and "it is not true" that the British eighth army had to face enemy 50-pounders with only 25-pounders themselves, he asserted.

"Our army throughout the battle enjoyed and enjoyed a superior in the air," Churchill said.

Then he told how the change in the Libyan campaign came on June 15.

"That morning we had about 300 tanks in action. By nightfall no more than 20 remained excluding light tanks."

This happened, Churchill said, "without any corresponding loss inflicted on the enemy" and said that Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's counter-attack on June 4 also resulted in heavy loss, that time in British artillery.

Here he interjected his statement that "considerable reinforcements" have reached or "are approaching" the British defenders of Alexandria.

House Must Weigh Facts

"It is for the house to decide," Churchill said, "whether these facts result from faulty central direction of the war or from the terrible hazards and unforeseeable accidents of battle."

The army in Libya "so far has been overpowered and driven back," he admitted, but said it must make it clear that this is not due to any conscious or willful grudging of men and material.

Part of the Australian forces were removed from the Middle East "to defend their homeland" and "important troops had to go to India and forces intended for the Middle East had to remain in India," he related.

The prime minister disclosed that there had been sent to the Middle East from the British Isles, the empire and India a lesser extent the United States, 4,500 tanks, 600 aircraft, nearly 500 pieces of artillery, 5,000 machine guns and over 10,000 mechanical vehicles.

Aid Given Russia

He said more than 2,000 tanks had been sent to Russia.

Replying to criticism that British troops had been sent to the Middle East, Churchill said the British troops were sent to the Middle East as late as 1940 and would eventually prove a powerful mass of serviceable weapons of war.

The commons cheered him.

In the first battle in Libya, "equipment was adequate" and in the second battle (apparently he referred to the most recent one) "we tried to make up by numbers for admitted inferiority in quality," Churchill declared.

Most air marshals think little of free bombers, Churchill said. He reminded his critics, who have called for 1,000 transport planes that there "have to come off our already far from adequate bomber force."

Churchill declared he was willing to accept "constitutional responsibility for everything that has happened."

"I consider I discharged that responsibility by not interfering with the tactical handling of armies in contact with the enemy."

He said before the battle opened in Libya, he urged Auchinleck to take command himself but the general "gave various good reasons for not doing so and General Ritchie really fought the battle."

Auchinleck has since taken command of the Eighth army.

He warned the house that the generals "will not run risks" unless they have a "strong government behind them, nor will the government run risks 'unless they feel they have the loyal support of the majority.'"

For Opera Debate

Labourite Aneurin Bevan, opening the second day of discussion on conduct of the war against the axis, told commons that while Churchill probably would win the debate, "the country is more concerned with the prime minister winning the war."

er" since the war began, he declared.

"The British army is ridden by class prejudice and you will have to change it. If the house does not make the government change it, events will."

The British cannot tolerate the comparison of Sevastopol "holding out for months and the collapse of Tobruk in six hours," Bevan continued, and the loss of battles "not by lack of courage but by lack of vision at the top."

Churchill twice interjected defensive comments as Bevan continued to attack him personally.

Bevan disclosed that Michael Dunbar, who was chief of staff for the Spanish Republicans in the victorious battle of the Ebro river, is a seaman in a British armored brigade.

Bevan said the British and Russians expect to open a second front against Germany and "we have got to do it this year."

Former Defense Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha, the second opposition speaker, said Britain is "confronted with a catastrophe of which neither the character nor the dimensions are anticipated even dimly by the government."

Hore-Belisha asked Churchill "if the German and Italian claims are true—that the Germans have broken through our Alexandria defenses."

He added: "He who holds Alexandria holds the key to the whole of our eastern empire."

Add To Help Bring In Metal in Scrap Drive

NEW YORK, July 2.—A nationwide program to salvage scrap metal and other types of discarded material needed in the war effort will be launched July 13 by the war production board, using advertising in newspapers, radio programs and other media.

The initial advertising program, including full-page advertisements in newspapers and one-minute spot radio announcements, has been underwritten by the steel industry with a contribution of $1,500,000 in the effort to collect not only scrap iron and steel but all sorts of non-ferrous metal, scrap, old rubber, tin cans and other material. Managers of the campaign expressed the hope that industries would make an additional contribution of at least $500,000.

GIBSONBURG MAN KILLED NEAR CAREY

Battle of Egypt May Determine Fate of World

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

This waiting for the decision in the battle for Egypt is like sitting outside an operating room in a hospital while a surgeon wields his scalpel in a life or death operation.

The momentous engagement which is now going full blast seventy miles west of the Great British naval base of Alexandria has been going on for three weeks upon which hangs "our way of life."

Equally it may determine the fate of the Nazi who would make us servants and rob us of our heritage.

General Sir Claude Auchinleck, the British commander, himself suddenly ended the withdrawal of his army and deliberately precipitated the battle.

It was the supreme moment for which Field Marshal Alexander had been striving since he not only was anxious to break the British before the latter had a chance to reorganize their disorganized forces, but he wanted to do battle before his dangerously drawn-out lines of communication were further extended. The Nazi commander's supply lines likely are his greatest menace. The one item of supply upon which both armies depended for their very lives was water. Every drop of water had to be transported over the burning sands under bombardment.

Over on the other side of Hitler's pincer operation, the Nazis claim the capture of the important Russian naval base of Sevastopol.

The fall of Sevastopol, while not a decisive event, would have far reaching effects both strategic and political. For one thing it would weaken Russia's hold on the Black sea and would increase Nazi pressure on Turkey.

H. R. FISHER HEADS RICHWOOD SCHOOLS

Delaware County Man Given 2-Year Contract.

RICHWOOD, O., July 2.—Homer R. Fisher, associated with the Delaware county schools for 17 years, the last five as superintendent of the Sunbury schools, has been given a two-year contract as superintendent of the Richwood schools.

Mr. Fisher succeeds R. C. Reardon, who has headed the schools for the last five years.

Action employing Mr. Fisher was taken at a meeting of the board of education Monday night.

Mr. Fisher, a graduate of Ohio State university, began his career in education as principal and science teacher at the Orange township schools in Delaware county. After three years in the Orange school he went to Sunbury as science and industrial arts teacher in the high school.

From that position, which he filled for three years, he was advanced to the principalship of the high school and five years ago he was named superintendent.

Mr. Fisher, his wife and daughter, Jeanne, 12, and Lois, Ann, 10, will move to Richwood about Aug. 1.

Mr. Reardon, who was out of town today, has not announced his plans for the future.

Petition Granted

Petition of J. H. Haines, Montgomery and others for permanent drainage of a section of the Glade Run ditch in Big Island township was granted this morning in a hearing before the county commissioners. The project will be sent to the county engineer's office for plans and estimates, upon completion of which the commissioners will conduct a second hearing.

Seized in FBI Raids

ALTOONA, Pa., July 2.—Twenty-five federal bureau of investigation agents seized a quantity of contraband articles last night in "spot searches" at the homes of 225 enemy aliens in this important rail center on the line of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The federal agents declined to connect them with the disclosure by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover Saturday that eight German saboteurs caught in this country had planned to destroy the Pennsylvania line along horseshoe curve, among other objectives.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

CHAPTER THIRTEEN The Bonds

BUT there was something else Joyce had to know.

"Haven't you any idea who killed Perry Clarke, Kent?"

"No."

"Not even a wild one?"

"No."

"Are you going to try and do anything about it?"

"Well, you have helped the police before, haven't you?"

"But this time, too many heads are looking around with murder eyes."

"You don't think Hester is mixed up with it?"

"No."

"But if you should find out that it was you—"

"Oh, Lord," Murdock groaned and his voice sounded as though he'd buried his face in the pillow.

"Well, would you?"

"No. Why should I? Clarke was a rat. You as I in a crowd?"

"Not at all, darling. I said—"

"You know who I mean. Probably he had it coming to him. I don't know who killed him, and I don't care and I'm not going to try and find out. He sat up there and he let the other fellows get away with it. And neither are you. You kept out of it."

She made no answer, but after he had floundered down again she did a lot of thinking. That old paper Kent had mentioned. Hester's name. The fact and that $100,000 sum. I meant something. In the back of her mind the conviction grew that Hester knew a great deal about the death of Perry Clarke, and she was glad now that she had persuaded Della Stewart to keep her secret. Kent's reaction to her inquiry about Hester settled that much for her.

Inquisition

When Kent and Joyce Murdock arrived at Hester's house the following morning at eleven o'clock, Lieutenant Bacon and his assistants had already eliminated these guests at the cocktail party who had no apparent contact with the late Perry Clarke. The others were gathered in the library.

They said their good-mornings and found places. Joyce taking the leather divan next to Dean Thorndike and Hester, and Murdock perching on a window seat. Della Stewart was deep in a chair in one corner and Ward Allen in the other. The bench in front of the fireplace Bacon stood behind the desk until the Murdocks were seated, then he rubbed his chin and cleared his throat.

"We'll get this over with just as soon as we can," he said, glancing at the police stenographer who was seated off to one side, an open notebook in his lap and pencil poised. "You all know who you're here. I hope you'll cooperate."

He sat down and rearranged some papers on the desk. When he looked up his gray eyes inspected each one in turn and finally came back to Hester.

"How long were you married to Mr. Clarke?"

"About nine months."

"That was in France?"

Hester nodded.

"And after that you went to South America and married again. Clarke followed you there, didn't he?"

"Hardly followed," Hester said. "He came about a year later."

"What was a business trip?"

"The one I made when I was in the army."

"He was an entrepreneur, was he?"

"Yes. He played games and acted as master of ceremonies at parties."

"When you were together, were you working together?"

"No. He was a gambler and I was a housewife."

"Did you know where he was when he was killed?"

"No. I was in the city at the time he was killed."

"Did you see him the day he was killed?"

"No. I was in the city at the time he was killed."

"Did you see him the day he was killed?"

"No. I was in the city at the time he was killed."

Tracing Europe's Victims of Nazi Aggression

Wide World Features
The rulers and key figures of 14 countries that have been under Nazi domination since 1938. Some are in exile, some are in custody, three are cooperating with the Axis, two are being persecuted, and lives in process of being lost, one is leading guerrilla warfare. Here are the latest reports. (See 16 for you can identify those pictured.)

DISTRICT WAR BOND
SALES FALL SHORT

June Figures Below May Rate.
Reserve Bank Reports.

CLEVELAND, July 2 — War bond sales are below quotas in the Fourth Federal Reserve district.

The Federal Reserve bank in Cleveland noted today that through June 27, "sales of war bonds of Series E, F and G by financial institutions and through payroll allotment program operating in the Fourth district failed to equal the rate reported in May."

"With June quotas for the entire country one-third higher than those of May, it would appear that the June goal was not being attained locally. Sales of war savings bonds in June up to the 27th of the month totaled $38,530-000, compared with $44,814,000 in all of May."

The figures do not include postoffice sales. They were contained in the bank's monthly business survey of the district covering Ohio, eastern Kentucky, western Pennsylvania and the West Virginia panhandle.

As for retail trade, "in the four weeks ended June 20 dollar sales of reporting Fourth district department stores were only fractionally larger than those of last year. Taking into account the general rise in prices during the past 12 months, physical volume of trade has declined below year-ago levels."

That department stores were well stocked was shown by the bank's report that "at the present time total store inventories are more than twice as large as they were in January, 1941," and even when "allowance is made for seasonal differences, the increase is 89 per cent."

Cong. Smith Protests
ODT Plea on Fairs

Congressman Frederick C.
Smith of Marion has sent a protest to Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, charging that his appeal for cancellation of county fairs was "discriminatory," according to word received by county fair officials in the Eighth congressional district.

The protest points out that the order refers specifically to state and county fairs, but not specifically to races, baseball games and other such activities.
He charged that the ODT appeal apparently "singled out" farmers.

will be assigned to duty at sub-stations in the district, are Chief

Soldier's Complete Letter Is Reduced to Tiny Photograph for Speedy Shipment to Home Country.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Staff Writer, The Star
ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 2.—A robot, which can feel a thickness of one-thousandth of an inch in letter-writing, is safeguarding the newly adopted system of transporting mail from American troops abroad.

The system, inaugurated this month, reduces a soldier's complete letter to a photograph five-eighths of an inch square, transportable to destination as film.

MORROW CO. BOARD TO ACT ON FAIR

Meeting Set at Mt. Gilead Tonight.

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, July 2.—T. C. Curl, president of the Morrow county fair board, announced today that a special meeting of the board will be held tonight to make a final decision on whether or not the 1942 fair will be held here.

Curl stated that the fair will probably be held despite Federal Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman's request that all fairs be discontinued to save rubber.

After receiving protests that this was discriminatory and that other events were more wasteful of rubber, Eastman modified his request by stating that there could be no definite ruling on all fairs and that ones which did not require farmers to use more transportation than they ordinarily use might be continued.

2,500 Witness Little Grand Circuit Inaugural Card

Mishaps Mar Opening Races; 8-Dash Bill Tonight.

By LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

Two mishaps, one which necessitated the shooting of a Fremont-owned horse, marred an otherwise perfect program as Marion's two-week Little Grand Circuit meeting was launched last night at the county fairground oval before an estimated 2,500 spectators.

The 2-24 trot fourth race ended tragically when Hal Esig, owned and driven by Robert W. Shaw of Fremont, spilled the rider and lapped the half-mile oval three times with a damaged sulky trailing him. The four-year-old bay gelding finally crashed into a narrow and truck parked on the outside of the track. Serious injuries sustained in the mishap forced handlers to shoot the animal.

Mr. Shaw is the father of Bob Shaw, sophomore end on Paul Brown's great 1941 Ohio State university football team and holder of various Ohio high school track and field marks. Young Shaw was present for last night's races.

In the eighth race, semi-final event on the dash card, C. J. "Slim" Shilling of Columbus suffered a possible shoulder fracture when his sulky skidded in a four-sulky sprint. Shilling was driving a brown gelding by Aggie Jimmie France, who was driving Robert Lotz, a chestnut gelding by Hal Dale, suffered minor arm abrasions. Charles Norris of Marysville, driver of a bay gelding, suffered slight chest injuries. He was taken to City hospital for treatment and later was released. Ernie Smith of Washington, C., was riding by Scotland and escaped unhurt.

10-Horse Limit Set
Frank M. Foster, secretary of the Marion Trotting association, announced last night following the second crash that fields now would be restricted to 10 horses in all remaining Little Grand Circuit races. He said the spills were a direct result of an excessive number of horses in one race.

Charles Norris of Marysville, C., P. Rumley of Princeton, Ill., and Frank Morris of Pataskala shared inaugural program driving honors with one winner each.

Morris, booted a winner, Don, a black mare by Dunbar Lad, home first, second and ninth, respectively, in the three one-mile dashes. Betty a Worley, a bay mare by Calumet Axworthy and driven by Harry Tallman of Toledo, finished second. Tarzun, a bay gelding by Double Great and piloted by Jake Mahoney of Indianapolis, was third.

Rumley chased You Know, a cross gelding by Siskyou, across ahead of the field in the first and Farmer Jones To Battle Billy Venerable of Texas.

Toledo's Black Panther and Rufus Jones of New York City will continue their armory match here tonight in a 10-round boxing match. Last week the Panther defeated Jones decisively in a two-hour no-holds-barred scrap. The event replaces the usual one-hour semi-final bout.

Billy Venerable, the rough Texan, is slated to tangle with Farmer Jones in the two-hour feature bout. The two fighters will weigh in at 195 pounds each.

The preliminary bout slated to start at 8:30 p. m. matches Joe Perona and Bobby Castle.

Cleveland Piles Up 5 Runs on Rookie Grove; Yanks Humbled Again.

It won't matter to the army and navy who wins tonight's Indians-White Sox game, since in any event the services' relief funds will get the proceeds, but the Tribe would like to make it four in a row over Chicago. Chubby Dean will be hurling against Johnny Humphries.

The Indians won their 7 to 2 victory over the Sox yesterday in the first inning and increased their lead over the fourth place Tigers in two full games, by playing the first seven men to go to bat.

Al Smith until the ninth inning allowed only a pair of singles and a double. In the final chapter, Moses' third single and one-baser by Myril Hoag, Taft Wright and Applin accounted for the Chicagoans' pair of runs.

Hockett Doubles
Cleveland's assault garnered five runs off rookie Orval Grove before Jake Wade came in to fan Jim Hegan for the game's first out.

Oris Hockett led off by giving Grove's second pitch a ride for

COLUMBUS RED BIRDS, MINNEAPOLIS MILLERS SPLIT DOUBLE-HEADER

4-Team Scramble for A. A. Third Spot Likely To Develop.

By The Associated Press
A three-way race for third place in the American association soon may engulf Milwaukee and turn the fight into a four-team second place scramble.

The situation went unchanged last night as second place Milwaukee and third place Minneapolis split even in their respective double-headers. The even breaks enabled Milwaukee to maintain its game and at half lead over Minneapolis, which in turn stayed a half game ahead of Columbus and Louisville.

Minneapolis pounded across seven runs in the last inning of the first game to break a tie and lead Louisville 9 to 1. The Colapels won the second, 7-1.

Minneapolis likewise got its winning margin in the last inning of the first game losing out Columbus, 2-1. The Millers lost the second, 10-1.

Kansas City went 10 innings before defeating Indianapolis 3-1. Toledo beat St. Paul 16-4.

Bob Thinks He'll Play Golf Till Middle of August, So Offers Go Begging.

NEW YORK, July 2 — You'll never believe this, but Jimmy Johnston was just about speechless today.

As a matter of fact, the entire fight industry was struck more or less incoherent.

For the guys in the business had just learned that Rapid Robert had just turned his back on a little matter of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars that he could pick up in a few fights this summer.

The Offers, Johnston has received so far make a pile big enough to fill his derby. He can get $25,000 for Rapid Robert to take on Larry Bobo in Pittsburgh or Cleveland, or both. There's $20,000 waiting for a return go with Jimmy Blivins in Cleveland and $25,000 more if he wants to mail with Melio Bettina in Chicago, and $15,000 to fight Lou Novala in Chicago and $10,000 for Joe Savold in Detroit or Toledo, and either $7,500 or $5,000 to appear against a couple of lesser known lights in Toledo.

As Jimmy showed you there, a telegraph messenger delivered wires which guaranteed Pastor $10,000 to fight either Pat Valentino or Turkey Thompson in Los Angeles.

Ford Frick Straining To Put Nats Over in All-Star Game To Boost U. S. Service Fund

First Concern Is To Enrich Baseball Fund for Men in Service, But He's Also Gunning for American Leaguers.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 2 — Ford Frick doesn't mind losing sleep if it will keep his National leaguers from losing the all-star game to the American leaguers.

The two picked sounds of the major leagues will square off at the Polo Grounds for their tenth annual outing at 6:30 p. m. (EWT) Monday, a shindig in which the president of the National league has a two-fold interest.

He would like, probably in the order named, (1) to fatten the baseball equipment fund for the armed forces by $100,000, and (2) to flatten the American leaguers for a good many reasons.

Toward these ends he is working tirelessly, making sure that there will be enough customers on hand to reach the first objective and enough pitchers from his own circuit to achieve the second.

"I'll do everything possible to get the strongest team out there," Frick told a group of baseball writers. "I have asked the managers concerned to rest five pitchers for the two days preceding the all-star game, if possible."

The five pitchers are Johnny Vander Meer of Cincinnati, Cliff Melton of New York, Claude Passeau of Chicago, Windy Wynn of Brooklyn and Mort Cooper of St. Louis.

Frick did not mention Ruckey Walters and Paul Derringer of the Reds, who complete the league all-star mound staff, since it was

Tropical Diseases

When the English soldiers returned from the Egyptian campaign against Napoleon they brought with them a peculiar contagious disease of the eye called trachoma. It had never been seen in England before but was common in Egypt. So prevalent and painful was this affliction among the armed forces that two young men of Guy's hospital in London named Cunningham and Saunders began to study it and established the first hospital in the world for eye diseases—Moortfield's, in London. The study of this tropical disease was really the beginning of our scientific knowledge of the specialty diseases of the eye.

It is so likely that it amounts to a certainty that with the return of soldiers from this war we will have introduced into this country a number of tropical diseases which are locally unfamiliar to the average medical man. It is probable that they will not stay here very long because they depend upon climatic conditions, animal carriers which are indigenous to tropical countries, but we are sure to hear about them and for that reason a book just published called "Ambassadors of Disease" by Dr. Logan Clendening, M.D., is a very timely publication.

The English, who have sent their soldiers and colonialists out to tropical countries for years, have established in London the Institute of Tropical Medicine, but we have no similar institution here. In the United States, however, there is a bureau of tropical diseases in the Department of Health, and a number of tropical diseases are being studied in the United States. Very few have ever been any more common here than malaria, which is almost everywhere and yet is not so common as it once was. It is not so common as it once was, but it is still a major cause of death in the United States and is still a major cause of death in the United States.

The whole aspect of disease in tropical countries is different from ours. Among the diseases which are the principal causes of death in the tropics are malaria, yellow fever, dengue, typhoid, and cholera. In the United States, however, the principal causes of death are heart disease, cancer, and pneumonia. The tropical diseases are not so common here as they are in the tropics, but they are still a major cause of death in the tropics.

A large part of this, of course, is due to the carelessness of the inhabitants and ignorance and indifference to the causes of the tropical diseases. A Central American pays no more attention to a mosquito than you would to a piece of lint that dropped on the skin of your hand. I have watched, fascinated, while a mosquito made a miniature balloon of itself out of the blood of a native of Nicaragua. They also drink any kind of water that happens to be there, regard screens and even doors and windows with suspicion and let all kinds of animals wander in and out of their houses, no matter whether they are disease carriers or not.

I speak of a period that is

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"VERY MUCH awake," I told my husband demurely, pulling the door wide open. Then his dear arms were around me, but I could not control my convulsive sob.

"Madge! Sweetheart!" he implored. "What is it? Has anything happened?"

"No," I faltered when I could speak. "It's only that I'm so glad you're back safely."

His relieved laugh was full of tenderness.

"Now, cry it all out!" he commanded comfortingly. "I dedicated this shoulder to you at the altar for that express purpose."

"Oh, Dicky," I said, nestling closer to him, "you are such a comforting and charming idiot."

Hysteria Banished

"Well," he drawled, "I've been assured of that—as far as the noun is concerned—many times in my career. But those adjectives are distinctly your own invention. Thanks for the compliment, just the same."

"You're welcome, I'm sure," I said pertly. Then we were silent for a long minute of blessed reunion which had no need of words. When at last I broke the silence with a question, all my hysteria was gone.

"Did you have a difficult time with Carolyn?" I asked, shifting my head so that I could see his face.

"Not after I read the riot act to her," he said grimly. "She shot every arrow in her quiver at me, tried every blandishment to get me to let her stop off at a village about ten miles from Dalemont, where she said she simply had to see some person who could do Marion and herself infinite harm if she didn't let it stop."

"She had tried to enlist Ronald Dalemont, hadn't she?" I asked.
